

Recent comments urging Federal action to block satellite radio from providing "local content" like traffic and weather is extremely upsetting. How is this action any different than the content cable TV channels provide with exactly the same info?

Let's stop wasting tax dollars trying to legislate a product (which we pay for) to supposedly "protect" the local terrestrial radio stations.

I personally have had enough of my First Amendment Rights being squashed by the recent FCC mandates regarding "shock radio". We don't need this legislation too.
